RE: $50,000, cupis #370442BT1 General Motors Corporate Bonds.

Dear sir,

What I do understand is that I am about to have my asset high-jacked by GM, UAW, and the US Treasury.

I will never agreed to exchange of my bonds for worthless common stock.

This is not a third rate banana republic dictatorship but an country with constitutional rights, division of government branches, and due process of law.

I anticipate GM will be back in Chapter 7, when the $30,000 additional bailout is gone. Nobody will buy their cheap imitation Japanese cars, nor will the "new" GM find significant investors. UAW will be back to their own tricks of striking for more benefits.

I refuse to take part of any action that will (willingly) separate me from my bonds. If the new GM owners wants my bonds I will surrender them at face value.

I am,
